Lenovo (Singapore) Pte. Ltd. DESCRIPTION OF THE OPPOSED APPLICATION

Filing Date:	March 17, 2015

Goods:	Data processing apparatus

GROUND OF OPPOSITION

1. Opposer owns the US Registrations listed below:

for, among other things, computer hardware, computer workstations comprising a central processing unit, display monitor, keyboard, hard and floppy diskette drives and optional computer peripherals, and instructional manuals sold therewith, computer monitors, video projectors, data projectors, data/video projectors, handheld video/data projectors, and instruction manuals sold as a unit therewith (collectively “THINK” family of marks).

2. Opposer’s registrations are valid, subsisting, and in full force and effect.

Opposer also owns various national and international pending applications.

3. On March 17, 2015, Applicant filed the application at issue to apparently register the mark THINGBOOK for, “data processing apparatus” in International Class

009 and “design and development of computer hardware and software” in International Class 42.

4. Opposer and its predecessors have been in the business of providing computer hardware, computer workstations comprising a central processing unit, display monitor, keyboard, hard and floppy diskette drives and optional computer peripherals, software and instructional manuals, computer monitors, video projectors, data projectors, data/video projectors, handheld video/data projectors therewith since at least 1992, which is a date prior to the filing date of the opposed applications.

5. Opposer sells its products and services to customers throughout the United States and internationally.

6. Opposer's use of the THINK family of marks has been valid and continuous and said marks have not been abandoned.

7. Opposer's use of its THINK family of marks that subsists in common law and national and international registrations is symbolic of the extensive and valuable goodwill and consumer recognition built up by Opposer through substantial amounts of time, effort, and considerable sums of money, in advertising, marketing, and promotion.

8. Opposer's goods and services as identified in the above-listed trademark registrations and as associated with the Opposer's THINK family of marks are identical or closely related to the goods and services as apparently identified in the opposed application. Upon information and belief, Opposer's goods and services and Applicant's goods and services are or will be offered to the same class or classes of consumers through the same channel of trade.

9. The mark in the opposed application is substantially and confusingly similar to Opposer's trademarks and family of THINK marks identified above.

10. If Applicant uses the mark in the opposed application for the goods and services as identified in the opposed application such use will likely cause confusion, mistake, and/or deception of the relevant trade and public which would be a source of damage for Opposer.

11. Further, if Applicant uses the mark in the opposed application for the goods and services identified in the opposed application, such use might convey to the relevant trade or public that Applicant's goods and services are in some way legitimately connected with, licensed or approved by Opposer, when that is certainly not the case. Said source of confusion, mistake, and/or deception will be a source of damage for Opposer and the relevant trade or public.

12. Since the mark in the opposed application is likely to cause confusion with Opposer's marks described above, the mark in the opposed application must be refused registration pursuant to Section 2(d) of the Lanham Act.

WHEREFORE, Opposer believes that it may be damaged by the registration of the mark shown in Trademark Application Serial Number 79/164,385 in International Class 009 and International Class 42 and the registration must be rejected.

Respectfully submitted,
